1. Purpose of This Guide

This guide provides information on how to nominate an individual for the Killam Prize on the following website: National Killam Program - Portal.

Please note that the intended audience for this guide is the nominator, typically a senior administrator at the researcher’s institution or a third party representative of a learned society.

If you need help logging into or creating an account, please refer to the Killam portal user guide.

To request this content in a different format, please contact the National Killam Program Office at KillamProgram-ProgrammeKillam@nrc-cnrc.gc.ca.

2. About the National Killam Program

Vision

Dorothy Killam cared about the future. She had a vision of “building Canada’s future through advanced study”. Through her Will, Dorothy Killam established a perpetual trust to realize that vision. The trust funds generations of scholars in Canada with the goal to increase research attainments and promote sympathetic understanding between Canadians and the peoples of other countries. The National Killam Program endeavors to uphold the vision of Dorothy Killam, strengthen the research ecosystem broadly, and improve the lives of Canadians through research advancements.

Mission

The mission of the National Killam Program is to support novel and diverse research fields, and to ensure that Killam Prize Laureates and Dorothy Killam Fellows are reflective of Canada's diversity.

Attributes

Fellows and Laureates conduct research that is superior, ground-breaking, and stands to positively improve the lives of Canadians, but they are not one-sided people. They are leading researchers who demonstrate a special distinction of intellect and contribute to the advancement of learning, and reflect Killam attributes.

Inclusive Collaborator - whose work exemplifies inclusion and understanding of people, cultures and needs with participation among all economic, social and cultural backgrounds.

Barrier Breaker - whose original, transformational, future-focused generation of knowledge and technology stands to change the way we live.

Research Leader - who activates thoughtful cooperation among scholars, disciplines, and institutions.

3. Equity, Diversity, and Inclusion Statement

Inclusive excellence affirms that excellence is not attainable without inclusion. It recognizes the relationship between diversity and quality of research, and upholds equitable participation in Canada's research mission. In order to achieve research excellence, we must address systemic barriers that limit the full participation of Canadian talent. The National Killam Program's Equity, Diversity and Inclusion Action Plan (EDI Action Plan) outlines our commitment to taking specific actions to achieve equitable and inclusive access to programming.

4. Roles – Participants in the Killam Prize nomination process

The following are involved in a nomination for the Killam Prize:

Nominator – the individual nominating a candidate to receive the Killam Prize, typically a senior administrator at the candidate's institution or a third party representative of a learned society. The National Killam Program also welcomes nominations from leaders in research-based or community organizations who are familiar with the nominee's work. Nominators are responsible for ensuring that all declarations and documents are uploaded prior to submission, including three (3) letters of support from referees.

Nominee – the individual being nominated for the Killam Prize. The nominee's is responsible for providing their research categories, demographic and self-identification information, and for accepting the nomination. The nominee also has the option of providing their CV.

Referee – Referees provide letters of support for nominees of the Killam Prize. Referees are identified by the nominator and invited to provide letters of support either through the nominator, directly to the National Killam Program Office, or through the online portal.

5. About the selection process

The National Killam Program engages external peer reviewers who are experts in their fields to provide consistent, fair and high quality reviews using the scoring rubric for Killam Prize nominations.

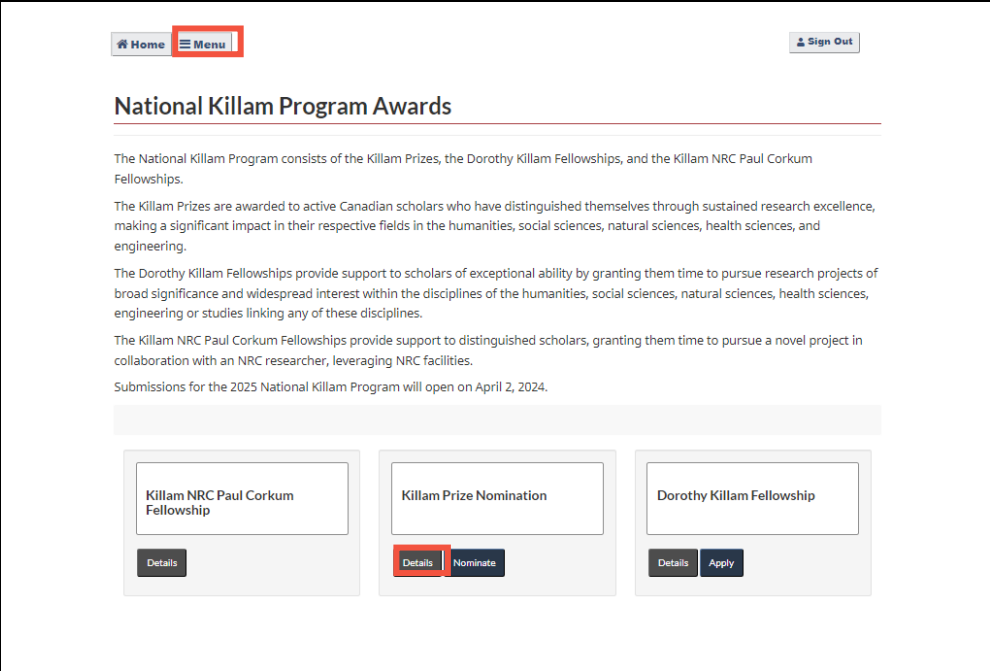

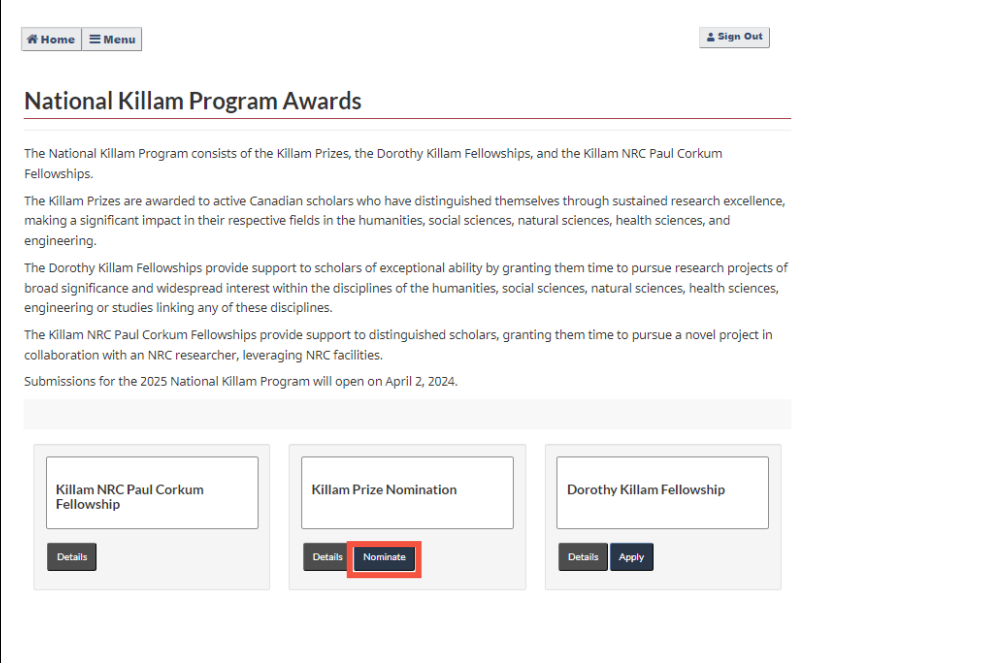

Following Peer Review, the Selection Committee evaluates nominations based on their merit, compared with each other and in a national context to make decisions on winners.

Prizes are offered to candidates considered outstanding by the Committee. Where a number of candidates are considered outstanding, and the assessments are not meaningfully different from each other, the Selection Committee will consider cohort factors that will contribute to a diverse and representative group. The following points will figure prominently in the review and selection of the candidates considered for the Killam Prizes:

Criteria	Description	Weight
Relevance	Exceptional quality of the candidate's research record achieved in line with the Killam values and including candidate's outstanding commitment, creativity and efforts to share research knowledge beyond the academic community.	33.3%
Impact	Contribution of the candidate's ideas and research results to Canadian society, including the nation's intellectual and/or cultural life; as well as international stature where appropriate.	33.3%
Merit	Quality of the candidate's research record and scope of the candidate's research contributions taking into account the norms of the field of study.	33.3%

Nomination Letter: 1,000 words in English or 1,200 words in French

Letters of nomination are used to inform peer assessment as well as evaluation by a multi-disciplinary Selection Committee. Nominators must include a brief, plain-language summary of the nature of the nominee's research, details on the nominee's distinguished contributions to scholarly research, and a rationale as to why the nominee is an outstanding candidate for the Killam Prize.

The National Killam Program uses a two-stage selection process including external expert peer reviewers and a multi-disciplinary selection committee. Please ensure that all materials employ plain-language, using clear and simple terms, and are written in a way that a non-specialized audience would understand.

Further, nomination letters must clearly specify:

- the Killam Prize discipline in which the candidate is being nominated, and
- the nature of the nominator's relationship with the nominee.

To reduce the potential for unconscious bias in the evaluation process:

- please refer to nominees consistently by their surname(s) and use gender-neutral pronouns.

Instructions:

- Text files must be in .pdf (preferred), .doc, or .docx format.
- Do not use punctuation, special characters, or more than 45 characters in your file names

Proof of eligibility requires nominators and nominees to attest that eligibility requirements have been met.

- Individual nominations may include nomination for multiple categories, but an individual may only be awarded the Killam Prize in one category.
- No individual may be awarded a Killam Prize more than once.
- Self-nominations are not permitted for the Killam Prize; only nominations by experts in their field.
- Killam Prizes are intended for active (not retired) Canadian scholars who have made a substantial and distinguished contribution, over a significant period, to scholarly research. A Killam Prize is not intended as an "end-of-service" reward, as a recognition for a single great accomplishment, or in expectation of future distinguished contributions. Only Canadian citizens or scholars working and living in Canada are eligible, and the prizes are awarded only to living candidates.
- National Killam Program Office employees, members of the National Killam Program Advisory Board, or the Selection Committee may not be nominated during their term as members, and for 1 year following the end of their term.
- The nominator and the nominee consent to disclose any information that may constitute a significant departure from generally-recognized standards of public behaviour and which is seen to undermine the public reputation of the National Killam Program.
- A nominator may resubmit a nomination for a specific nominee as many times as desired. However, a new nomination package is required for any subsequent nomination.

Note that meeting the eligibility criteria allows candidates to be nominated for a Killam Prize. However, it does not guarantee prize receipt. The National Killam Program Office retains the right to interpret the contents of the nomination guidelines and form.

Provide the contact information for referees who will provide letters of support.

The referees may be within or outside Canada. If the letters have been translated from another language, the originals must also be included. Ideally, the nominator will share their nomination letter with those providing letters of support to avoid repetition.

The National Killam Program uses a two-stage selection process including external expert peer reviewers and a multi-disciplinary selection committee. Please ensure that all materials employ plain-language, using clear and simple terms, and are written in a way that a non-specialized audience would understand.

- Please ensure that each letter of support is unique, clearly describes the impact of the research nationally and/or internationally, and/or speaks to efforts on the part of the nominee to have a multiplier effect in their field.
- Please ensure the letter writer clearly specifies the nature of the letter writer's relationship with the nominee.

To reduce the potential for unconscious bias in the evaluation process:

- Please ask the letter writers to refer to nominees consistently by their surname(s) and use gender-neutral pronouns.
- Please remove institutional letterhead.

Nominees who focus on community-based research are encouraged to provide one letter of support that speaks to the importance of the nominee's research to a particular community or communities. This letter may come from a community leader or a community member.

Note: Community-based research involves active participation of stakeholders whose lives are affected by the research in all phases of project for the purpose of producing useful results that lead to positive changes.
